We are still looking for one more person to round out our dedicated executive roster. We need a Facilities Director if interested please contact Debbie for more information.

The card inventory process will be changing in February. We will be counting out 20 cards for each artist and packaging the rest for you to take away. We will pay you $4.00 each for those 20 cards and the gallery hosts will start using the inventory check sheet. A sample is in the binder now for you to familiarize yourself.

GALLERY STATISTICS

October was another good month for us. We did very well for the beginning of the fall season $5,208 in sales (which is up from 3677.00 last year. The visitor count was 13 per day (usual for this time of the year). Again thanks to the hosts who made great sales despite lower visitor count. Every effort comes with rewards!

Christmas in the Annex

The Annex Show - a show of small art pieces from our members is getting a lot of traction. We have sold many pieces! Thanks to artists for bringing in extras so that the show is looking good throughout the time.

ANSWER TO THE QUESTION OF THE MONTH

What happens if a label is placed on an art piece incorrectly?

APFTA has always held the belief that the artist is ultimately responsible for putting their label information both on their works and in the label program correctly. Although the curator and the installation team try their very best to have each piece labelled correctly, mistakes do happen sometimes. If you have concerns about the pricing of a piece please contact johnechristie@gmail.com as soon as possible to correct the information.

WHAT'S UP IN THE ANNEX?

In Summer 2025 we will be having an experiential mural project in the Annex. The mural at the west end of our building (seen in the photo of our new sign) needs updating and Gayle Crosmaz is spearheading a community project to update this piece of art. More will be coming soon but think about what you love about the history of Bandcroft and plan to be part of this interactive adventure!
